THE INDIANAPOLIS POSTMASTER.

Commissioner Thomas and Chief Examiner Lyman, of the Civil Service Commission, are investigating the charges against the new Democratic Postmaster at Indianapolis. It appears that Jones has discovered a way to circumvent the Civil Service Law. It should be mentioned for his distinction, as well as that of his fellow-postmasters in offices having more than fifty employees, that he is the only one of President Cleveland's appointees who has made the discovery, or has shown any disposition or desire to depart from the spirit of the act. The law leaves the power of removal undisturbed in the hands of all officers who have any responsibility for the performance of public duties. It provides, however, that when anybody of a specified grade, such as a clerk in a postoffice, is removed, and when a vacancy from any cause exists, it shall be filled after a competitive examination by selection from the four applicants who stand highest in the list. The Postmaster of Indianapolis has perceived that he can change the entire personnel of that office, and make it as completely subservient to the spoils system as though the Pendleton bill had never been passed, provided one Democrat out of every four applicants can be found to pass the examination with sufficient credit to meet the requirements of the law and regulations. The necessary vacancies he can, of course, make without violating the letter of the law. This plan has been put in practice with exceeding vigor by Postmaster Jones, who avows to all persons who remonstrate against his proceedings his intention to "make a clean sweep," and who has already carried his intention into effect by discharging all the janitors and scrub-women and other employees not included in the provisions of the Act, and filling their places with Democrats. It is stated that among the persons thus thrown out of service is a niece of the late General Burnside, whom misfortune had reduced to the necessity of working for $8 per week in some manual employment in the Indianapolis Post-office building. The effrontery of this newly-fledged Postmaster has called for the immediate attention of President Cleveland, whose integrity is quite as much at stake as that of the law which Mr. Jones has undertaken to nullify.

To Represent the House of Representatives.

General John B. Clark, Clerk of the House of Representatives, has designated and requested the following-named Committee to represent that body at the funeral of General Grant: John G. Carlisle, Kentucky; Samuel J. Randall, Pennsylvania; Wm. R. Morrison, Illinois; J. Randolph Tucker, Virginia; A. R. Singleton, Mississippi; Frank Hiscock, New York; Thos. Reed, Maine; Thomas Brown, Indiana; Benj. Butterworth, Ohio. These gentlemen will be requested by mail to meet in New York City on the 7th of August, at some hotel not yet determined upon.

Secretary Manning is quoted as much surprised to find so many bright and capable men in the Treasury Department, and as expressing an opinion that the longer he remains in the Department the more difficult it appears to him to improve the service.

It is expected that the Virginia Democratic State Convention which met in Richmond yesterday, will either nominate Fitzhugh Lee or Captain W. P. McKinney as their candidate for Governor.

It may be mentioned as a coincidence, that the noble vessel which brought General Grant home to our shores, was wrecked off the Japanese coast a short time before his death.

It is reported that General Smiley, late Adjutant General of Ohio, will succeed Mr. Harrison as Assistant Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Calling Harsh Names.

It is possible that President Cleveland will feel himself again called upon to cancel an appointment to office. The Pension Agent at Philadelphia, a day or two after entering upon his duties, found a Union soldier occupying one of the subordinate positions. The soldier was promptly removed to make a place for Joseph Barbieri, who had been a Lieutenant-Colonel in the rebel army. But this was not urged as an objection to the Pension Agent. His fault lies in the fact that he is the author of a book containing a number of terms not altogether acceptable. For instance, he speaks of Jefferson Davis as "our late beloved chief," and says that Wirz, the Andersonville butcher, "was more sinued against than sinning." Wendell Phillips appears as "that dirty dog and fanatic, the negro thief and slanderer of the Southern people;" Secretary Stanton as "that arch-military fiend of whom it is but fair to make a target;" and Abraham Lincoln as "a political scavenger who has brains, but so has a hog." Authorship is sometimes a dangerous thing.

Financial Condition of Mrs. Grant.

The Tribune editorially takes a hopeful view of the financial prospects of the General's family from the sale of the book, and says: Every one in this broad land will be glad to know that the General was able to make arrangements with the publishers so liberal that Mrs. Grant will probably soon be placed in exceptionally easy circumstances by her share of benefits in the sale of the book. She will receive 75 per cent. of the profits in America and 85 per cent. of the profits abroad. The publishers estimate Mrs. Grant's share certainly at $350,000, and possibly $500,000. This is highly gratifying. How the thought of his book must have sweetened the last hours of him who made this heroic effort to provide for those dependent upon him.

To Be Called Grant Park.

Mayor Grace said Monday that it was more than probable that the Board of Aldermen would very shortly change the name of Riverside Park to Grant Park. The selected site is on very high ground close to the North river. Just above the spot chosen for the tomb, the river bends to the west and a fine view, as far north as Tappan Zee, is afforded across the Manhattan Valley and lowlands bordering on the Harlem river. Visitors can see both shores of the city, while to the south the church towers and tall building in the low part of the city do not obstruct the view of the lighthouses on the Jersey shore.

Tender and Impressive Communication.

The San's Mt. McGregor special says: It is possible that Mrs. Grant may be inclined to give to the public the letter which her husband wrote to her, and which was found sealed in his coat pocket after his death. It is a touchingly tender communication, and reveals in a striking manner the depth of the General's affection for his wife. The General wrote an almost equally impressive note to Col. Grant shortly before he died, one sentence of which was: "I had rather see you suffer as I suffer now than see you abandoned to any vice."

The Chinese Still Coming.

The Bulletin prints an article on the effect of the Chinese Restriction Act of 1884, in which the statement is made that, for six months of 1885, ending June 30th, 274 Chinese have been landed in San Francisco on writs of habeas corpus, while for the entire year of 1884 only 483 were landed by the same means.

THE GAME LAW.

What Species of Game May be Killed—and When—and How—and So Forth.

In compliance with the request of numerous subscribers, the JOURNAL publishes the following sections of the Nevada game law:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to kill or injure, or to pursue with such intent, any sparrow, blue-jay, martin, thrush, mocking bird, swallow, red-breast, catbird, wren or humming bird, or to disturb the nest or eggs of said birds.

Sec. 2. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, at any time between the first day of April of any year and before the first day of September following to catch, kill or destroy, or to pursue with such intent, any partridge, pheasant, woodcock, quail, or any wild goose, wood-duck, teal, mallard or other ducks, sand-hill crane, brant swan, plover, curlew, snipe, grouse, robin, meadow-lark, yellow hammer or bittern; and after the first day of April and before the first day of August in each year, except in the counties of Humboldt, Eureka, Elko and Lander, hereinafter provided for, any sage-cock, hen or chicken.

Sec. 3. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons within this State, at any time, to trap or net quail, or to destroy, injure or disturb the nest or eggs of any of the birds protected by this act.

Sec. 4. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to catch, kill or destroy, or pursue with such intent, within the counties of Esmeralda, Douglas, Lyon, Storey, Churchill and Washoe, any sharp-tailed grouse, so-called prairie chicken, before the first day of September, 1885, nor within the counties of Humboldt, Eureka and Lander, after the 15th day of March and before the 1st day of September in each year, or in said counties of Humboldt, Elko, Eureka and Lander any sage-cock, hen or chicken, after the 15th day of March and before the 10th day of August in each year.

Sec. 5. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons at any time after the 1st day of December and before the 1st day of August in each year, to catch, kill or destroy, or to pursue with such intent, any deer, elk, antelope, mountain sheep or goat, or to have in his or their possession, or to expose for sale, or to purchase any of the animals mentioned in this section during the season when the killing, injuring or pursuing is herein prohibited.

Sec. 6. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons within this State to have in his or their possession or to expose for sale, or to purchase from any person whomsoever, either Indian or other person, any of the birds, wild game or animals mentioned in this Act during the season wherein the killing, injuring or pursuing is hereby prohibited; provided, that nothing in this Act shall be so construed as to prohibit any person or persons in taking any bird, fowl, fish or animal at any time for scientific purposes.

Sec. 7. Every person or persons offending against any of the provisions of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than $25, nor more than $200, or be imprisoned in the county jail of the county in which said conviction is had for any term not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and the prosecuting witness shall be entitled to receive a fee equal to one-half of the amount of any such fine imposed on each conviction.
